(Speaker pro tempore in the chair)

ADDRESS BY REPRESENTATIVE DUTTON ON A MATTER OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The chair recognized Representative Dutton who addressed the house on a matter of personal privilege, speaking as follows:

Mr. Speaker, members, there are two people who have been here longer than I have. But I'll tell you, since I've been here, I've learned to respect the people and the process. And I just wanted to take this opportunity to send a message to the senate that they've not been respectful, in my opinion—and I know some of you have the same problem with them, but it's gotten to the point now where I think we ought to do something about it. My mom one time told my dad that she thought I was scared of him, and my dad said, "Well, he needs to be scared of somebody in this house." My message to the senate is they need to be scared of somebody in this house.

And let me tell you what that's based on, members. I have a bill that was about my district. It was published in the newspaper, in the Houston Chronicle, as being a local bill. Nobody complained. It was introduced, it went to the Ways and Means Committee, and nobody showed up in opposition to it. It was on the local calendar. Nobody had any opposition to it. It got to the senate, and the senate decided, well, there's one guy who's upset, and so, we can't pass your bill. They need to be scared of somebody in this house, as opposed to one guy somewhere. And what I'm asking today is for us to decide that this is a bicameral legislature, and if the senate doesn't respect us, they need to expect us. So I just wanted to let them know that I'm headed over there.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

Representative Y. Davis moved to print remarks by Representative Dutton.

The motion prevailed.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Our judiciary recognizes that a person's character, when used as propensity evidence, can be overwhelmingly prejudicial. Such evidence can blind jury members, preventing them from reaching a conclusion based on the merits of the case before them. The exclusion of character evidence, based on its potential to prejudice the person about whom it is being admitted, conflicts with the general doctrine that a jury should reach an independent judgment based on the merits of the case presented to it. Therefore, character evidence is generally excluded when offered to show an individual acted in conformity with a certain trait. This exclusion has developed through the common law and is enshrined in the laws of Texas. SB 12 is a departure from that long-held principle and, therefore, I cannot support it. An accused citizen should be afforded a process which is not unfairly prejudicial, regardless of the heinous nature of the alleged offense.
